Premier Doggy Day and Overnight Camp

Animal welfare leaders in New Jersey agree that currently the animals most at risk in NJ shelters are cats and pitbull mix dogs. PFA is taking steps to target these high-risk populations with innovative programs aimed at reducing shelter intakes by preventing unwanted litters at the source.

• Cat Programs:

PFA collaborates with the ASPCA for cat behavior study

PFA is collaborating with the ASPCA to study the behavior of cats during their first three days in a shelter environment. The goal is to develop a reliable behavioral assessment tool for shelters to determine whether a cat is adoptable and acting fearful (but will come around with time) or if the cat is feral and should be placed in a TNR program. PFA is proud to be involved with this project.

February was "Beat the Heat" month for cats!

PFA completed just under 750 FREE female cat spays in the month of February—550 as part of a grant from PetsMart Charities and 200 funded by donations from supporters like you!! If you add in the male cats, PFA altered almost 1200 all together. In one month, we have prevented millions of cats and kittens from being euthanized in NJ shelters in the future.

Spay Day 2012, Free Feral Cat Day

Dr. Sarah Barnes of Eleos Vet generously volunteered her time along with PFA veterinarians Dr. Iris Biely, Dr. Laurie Heeb, Dr. Faith Perrin and Dr. Peter DiGeronimo to provide even more FREE spays and neuters for feral cats on February 26th to celebrate HSUS's World Spay Day. PFA staff, TNR advocates and other volunteers provided support for this effort to alter 80 cats in one day.

• Pitbull Programs:

Itty Bitty Pitty

Through a grant from Pitbull Rescue Central, PFA is offering 1/2 price surgery for your pitbull puppy! Altering your pittie before the age of 6 months is critical to reap the most health benefits and to prevent accidental litters. Funds are limited—call for your appointment today!

Primp your Pit in August 2012

PetsMart Charities is sponsoring $20 spay/neuter for your pitbull in August. Primp your Pit for just $20 (includes nail trim). Limited availability so call today!!

$50 off your pit spay/neuter
